

If you decide to cancel your BAN Service order after you have confirmed your acceptance and have been given an installation date, we may charge you a cancellation fee. We may also require you to reimburse us for any additional costs charged to Fire by your local access provider or KFC as a result of direct interactions between you and your local access provider or KFC (for example if you request the KFC technician to carry out additional chargeable work over and above that required for a standard installation). All such costs will be set out on your Fire invoice.
